

God, As on the World's First Morning
Hyfrydal 8.7.8.7.D

Tom Ulrich, 2012

Rowland Hugh Prichard, 1831

1 God, as on the world's first morn - ing, paints the earth with 2 A bright dawn of hope re - splen - dent shines for all hu - 3 Through the sun il - lum - i - nat - ing ev - 'ry cul - ture, 4 Work - ing for a new cre - a - tion mak - ing dreams re - ev - 'ry hue, with a rain - bow's brush a - dom - ing man - i - ty through the One whose love tran - scend - ent land, and race, rays of hope are em - a - nat - ing al - i - ty, bring - ing health and ed - u - ca - tion vis - ions filled with life a - new. From the glo - ry binds us in com - mun - i - ty. God a - wak - ens with the bless - ings of God's grace. Through the One whose as we share in min - is - try. At God's ta - ble of sun - ris - es to the beau - ty of sun - sets, all cre - our vo - li - tion to val - ue e - co - lo - gy as we re - sur - rec - tion con - quer'd dark - ness, death, and strife, and now all - in - clu - sive, Christ's pure light out - shines the sun and with a - tion har - mo - niz - es with the praise God's work be - gets.

join in lov - ing mis - sion, liv - ing our the - o - lo - gy.
serve as Christ's re - flec - tion, shar - ing gifts of light and life.
love and life ef - fu - sive, hu - man - kind u - nites as one.